

WHAT AM I?

I LIKE TO EAT

I have a membrane between my front and back feet so I can glide from tree to tree.

My tail is like a rudder! It helps me steer as I glide from tree to tree.

I live in a tree hollow during the day so I can sleep all day and be awake all night. I am nocturnal!

WHAT AM I?

I'm a girl, I lay eggs from my tail. My eggs look like seeds. I flick my tails to disperse my eggs.

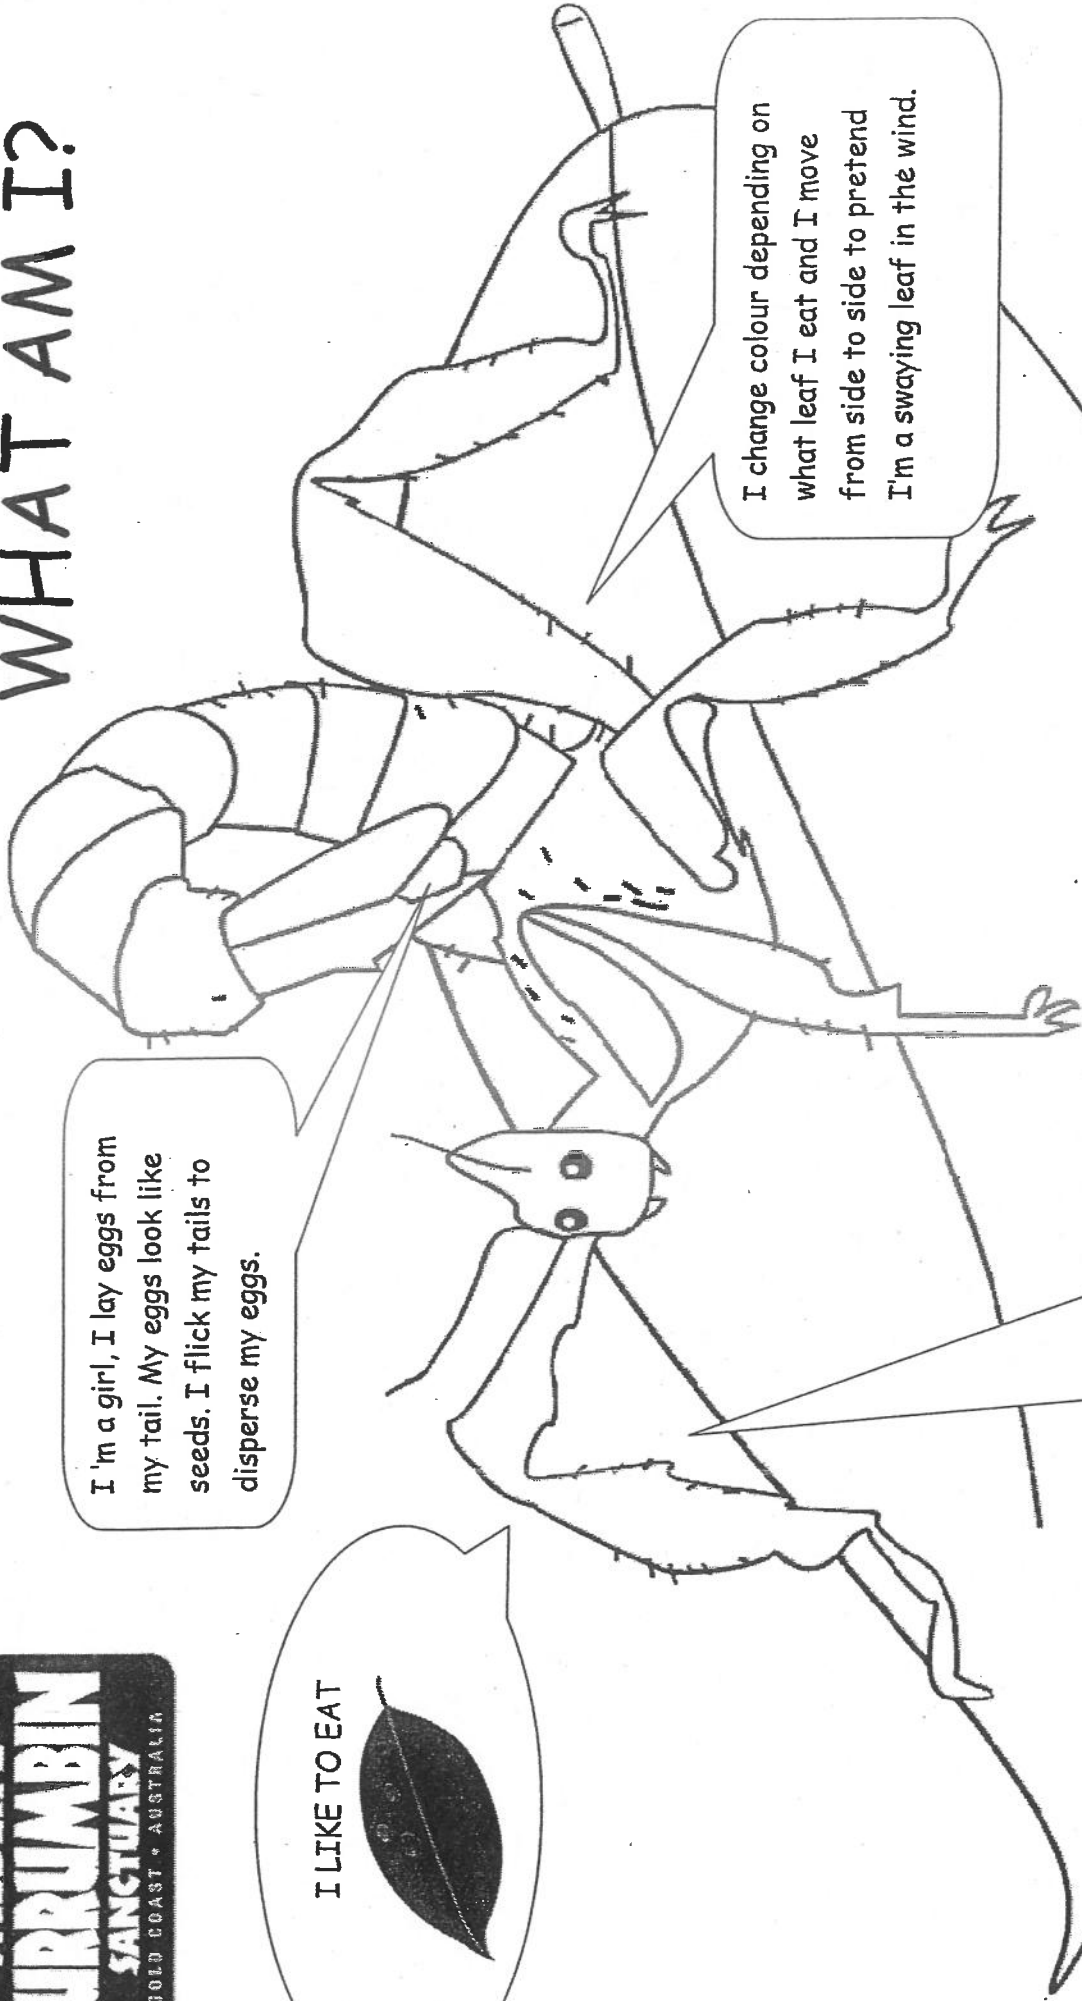

I LIKE TO EAT

I change colour depending on what leaf I eat and I move from side to side to pretend I'm a swaying leaf in the wind.

I have spines all over my body to help protect me from my predators.

WHAT AM I?

I am not venomous.
I kill my food with
my strong body
muscles and squeeze tightly.

I LIKE TO EAT

I have a forked tongue.
I can pick up smells with my tongue and taste them.

I don't have eyelids.
My eyes stay open all the time. To protect my eyes
I have a scale over them.
I call it a spectacle!

The pattern all over my body helps me to hide up in trees and shrubs.
I call this camouflage!
